“Pre-Pre-Award”
Finding Funding Using Pivot
Finding Funding Opportunities

• Before you begin, answer the following:
  • Do you have an idea or a project?
    – Ideas aren’t fundable; instead work on finding one or more projects that emerge from your idea
    – Projects are fundable
  • What key terms might be useful?
    – categories rather than very specific terms work best to start
    – Use more specific terms to narrow your search
  • Who might be interested in your research or work?
What is “Pivot”? (pivot.cos.com)

Pivot is an unmatched research development tool that:
• Provides access to the most comprehensive source of funding opportunities globally
• Identifies researcher expertise from within or outside of your organization
• Enhances communication, monitoring, and tracking amongst individual faculty, teams, or researchers and the Research Development office
• Allows the focus to be on winning the necessary awards and grants
• Sends weekly updates on saved searches you organize in your own folders

What else does Pivot do?

With a personalized experience through your own profile, Pivot pinpoints funding opportunities with searches that are:

- Accurate: Updated daily to add new information drawn from sources linked to profiles in publications from vetted sources and web content associated with a scholar's profile, and to drop out expired opportunities.

- Automated: Users can receive alerts whenever new matching opportunities are posted that match their saved searches.

- Focused: Search just one database for funding in any discipline and country, rather than multiple sources or scattershot across the internet.
